Flip of a Coin Will Decide Where the Initial Battle Between Phillies and Red Sox Will be Played-American Leaguers Hope to Start Series Friday, Oct. 8.

All the details of the coming world's series between the Boston Americans and the Philadelphia Nationals will be arranged at a meeting of the national commission to be held in New York today. On the toss of a coin will depend the choice of the city in which the opening game will be played, but there appears to be more interest in the location of the initial battle for the championship of 1915.

Whether the series will begin on Friday, Oct. 8, in causing much discussion among followers of baseball in New York, Many express the belief that the American league interests will endeavor to have the play begin on Friday, Oct. 8, the day after the close of the league season. This would preclude the possibility of the Phillies sending their star pitcher, Grover Cleveland Alexander, to the mound in three of the first four games played, as might easily be done should the series start on Saturday, Oct. 9. Under the latter schedule Alexander, to the mound in three of the first four games played, as might easily be done should the series of followers of baseball, would be decidedly advantage and worked Saturday, Monday and Wednesday, which, in the opinion of many close followers of baseball, would be decidedly advantage and worked Saturday, Monday and Wednesday, which, in the opinion of many close followers of baseball, would be decidedly advantage will be forced to extremes to win, Dartmouth will play Maine, which Yale defeated a week ago by a score of 37 to 0, and the Hanpover eleven is understood to harbor a desire to surpass the for those fans who desire to witten the point in its training where the coaches of the two universities do not anticipate that their charges will be forced to extremes to win, Dartmouth will play Maine, which year the point of the series on Friday is that it would be a much more convenient date for those fans who desire to witten the point of the series of the series. AGGIES SHOW KEEN INTEREST

(Special to The Bulletin.)
Storrs, Conn., Sept. 30. 1915.—The encouraging showing of the football team at Worcester on Saturday, has created considerable enthusiasm in the student body and this week's practice has been followed by large numbers of the students cheering on the work of the elevens.

The contest for places on the team has been especially keen, much more so than in any recent season, according to the oldtimers. One unfortunate result of this has been a number of accidents, which may possibly weaken the team in its contest with Stevens at Hoboken on Saturday. Stevens at Hoboken on Saturday,

Anderson, half-back in last year's team, who was kept out of last week's contest with a bad ankle, was in the lineup on the varsity team Wednesday night and may be in shape to play at Stevens. The defensive play of the team has improved somewhat, but the offensive continued to be weak. Newmarker, last year's tackle, is being tried out to fill the vacancy at center, while James is working hard to regain his position at end.

James is working hard to regain his position at end.

Coaches Chase and Warner have had the assistance in field practice of Ackerman, captain of last year's team and Prof. Edmond, who played on the team here several years ago. The team continues to be very light but makes up in fight and ginger for what they lack in weight and will-give account of itself at New York on Saturday.

It looks to the players as if the Worcester coach was attempting to find some excuse for the poor showing made by his men and at the same time discount the good showing made by the Connecticut players.

the business of the Town for the fiscal year just ended. The accounts show the different expenditures, and likewise the receipts, derived from the various sources of revenue.

A closer examination should be made of this report than has ever been given to similar financial statements of the Selectmen, because the Town's business has been much greater than in the past and of such consequence to the community that the taxpayers, in justice to themselves, should give it the most rigid scrutiny.

All the chief highways leading into the Town have been put in first-class condition, thus gaining the approval of the State Highway Commissioner, some of them being no longer an expense in any way to the Town, as they are accepted as part of the State's trunk highway lines, while the State relieves the Town of three-quarters of the expense of maintaining other roadways which have been placed in the excellent condition required to gain for them this very substantial State aid. An inspection of all these highways will make clear the State's reason for setting upon them the seal of its approval.

Matters at the Almshouse have been attended to with fidelity, it being intended that inmates shall be comfortable and shall be subject only to such rules as are proper for the health and general welfare of such a considerable community. The soil has been made to yield an abundant crop this year and the inmates of the house have given cheerfully much assistance to the management in different kinds of work.

There has been no waste in the expenditure for those who are attended to in the departments of Outside Poor, Insane, and Neglected and Dependent Children, and all have been given the care which their condition seemed to make neces-

Under the administration of your present officials, whose service has covered a period of six years, the debt of the Town has been reduced $110,060.44, the reduction in 1915 being $18,938.83. In 1913 the debts of all the school districts were added to the Town debt, but by careful management that very year there was a net reduction in the Town debt of $16,867.17.

We ask this year for an amount equal to a tax of 434 mills, to cover the obligations arising from the Town's ordinary business, included in which will be a State tax of practically $24,000, the sinking fund about $8,800, and the legal payment to the City of Norwich for highway account $18,000, these three items being equivalent practically to a making three-mill tax.

The estimates submitted by the Town School Committee indicate that for school purposes there will be needed an amount equal to a tax of 61/4 mills. This requirement, with the 434 mills above mentioned for the ordinary debts, would mean a total tax of 11 mills, which is recommended. Should the annual Town meeting see fit to vote in favor of additional demands which may be made known through petitions, it will necessarily have to vote a larger tax than that asked for herein.

All of which is respectfully submitted.
